FORWARD BOUND

New York. Feb. 19.—War shares and kindred specialties bounded forward again at the opening of today's stock market, recording gains extending from large fractions to 3 points in the very active first hour. Shippings, rails and steels and the usual leaders advanced more moderately at the outset, but increased their gains later. The rise prompted further heavy covering of short contracts. Liberty bonds showed slight irregularity.

short contracts. Liberty bonds showed slight irregularity.

The usual duliness prevailed during the mid-session, with further reversals in shippings. These were more than balanced, however, by a sharp advance in Mexicans and supplementary gains in war issues, notably Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and the motor stocks.

Leaders reacted 1 to 2 points on the heavy profit-taking of the last hour. The closing was strong. Liberty 3½s sold at 27.28 to 98.10, first 4s at 96.50 to 96.54 and second 4s at 96.10 to 96.54.

HE WAS BEATEN

A man registered on the police blotter as Will Weaver, and opposite whose name was written fugitive, state prison, N. C., (murder)," told Judge Martin Fleming Tuesday morning that he was an escaped convict and was willing to either go back to prison or go to war. He seemed desirous of taking the latter procedure. Information at headquarters is that the prisoner said he was sentenced to five years and had served all of his five years and had served all of his time with the exception of a few months, when he escaped. He claimed that he could exhibit stripes to show that he had been beaten. His case will be investi-

New York, Feb. 19.—The cotton market showed renewed steadiness early today, notwithstanding further rain reports from Texas. There was Liverpool buying and a moderate demand from trade sources, while offerings continued light, and after opening 2 to 5 points higher active months sold about 5 to 10 points above last night's closing figures, with May touching 29.83c and July 29.33c. March and December were relatively easy, the near month being held back by scattering liquidation in advance of notice day, while December reflected the better weather reports from the southwest.

better weather reports from the southwest.

Buying by spot houses with southern mill connections was attributed to hedging against raw material required for filling recently-accepted government contracts, and shorts evidently became uneasy toward the middle of the morning.
There was also buying by Liverpool and stop orders were uncovered on the advance, which carried May up to 36.17c and July to 29.57c, or about 40 to 45 points net higher. The volume of business tapered off at this level, but except for scattered realizing there was no selling pressure and prices held within 3 or 4 points of the best shortly after midday.
Private Washington advices quoting the democratic leader of the house to the effect that in his opinion no legislation fixing a price on cotton or cotton products could be put through congress were followed by another flurry of covering during the early afternoon. May sold up to 30.30c, with the general list showing net advances of 48 to 57 points around 2 o'clock. Notwithstanding the extent of the advance offerings were light and there was further buying by the trade against call cotton or business in goods.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

New Orleans, Feb. 19.—A continued favorable view of the spot situation by the trade generally made for higher prices it cotton here today, the market gaining 4 to 8 points in the first half-hour. More rain fell in Texas, but weather news did not affect values.

The demand from shorts increased and was met by only small offerings from all sources. In the trading up to noon prices advanced 40 to 45 points.

Firmness developed in the afternoon on a small volume of business. The advance was widened to 44 to 50 points in the trading up to 1 o'clock.

GERMANY RETURNS TO ATTACK ON RUSSIA; BOLSHEVIKI FACE TEST

What Opposition Power of German Militarism Will Be Offered Remains Problematical. Food Shortage Becoming Desperate.

(Associated Press Review.)

While German armies have crossed the Dvina and entered Dvinsk to deliver a blow at great Russia in View of the bolsheviki's refusal to meet Germany's terms of peace, the bolsheviki themselves are reported to have been driven from power in Petrograd.

The report of the bolshevik downfall comes from a rather uncertain source -through Finnish and Danish channels-but is circumstantial enough to give rise to consideration of the pos-sibilities should it be verified.

This group, that of social revolu-ionists, under the leadership of Tchernoff, the former Kerensky minister of agricultur, controlled the recent constituent assembly which was dissolved by the bolsheviki. Tchernoff is said to be the man now leading the new revolutionary group. The reports add that Lenine and Trotzky, the bolsheviki leaders, have escaped to Riga.

Germany's advance into great Rus-Germany's advance into great Russia, by way of the Dvina, is coupled with a movement by her forces further south into little Russia, of the Ukraine, to aid the Ukrainians in fighting the Jolsheviki. This army, advancing from Kovel, has already occupied Lutsk, the most westerly of the famous Russian triangle group of forts in Volkyria, the others of which forts in Volhynia, the others of which mentioning. The reports speak of the German advance being conducted "without fighting." The nearest approach to resistance, apparently was in the path of the northern army whose advance the Russians tried to impede by attempting to blow up the bridge over the Dvina. They failed even in this attempt, the German report declares. The northern force at Dvinsk finds itself on the main railway line to Petrograd, which, how-ever, is about 300 miles distant. What opposition the bolsheviki can or will offer the Germans is problematical. Although the Russian army has been much weakened by the demobilization order and strife in the ranks, the bolsheviki red guards have ranks, the bolsheviki red guards have been successful against the Ukrainians and other opposing forces in southern Russia. A week ago delayed dispatches from Petrograd said the bolsheviki leaders were doubtful if Germany would attack and apparently had no intention to fight the invaders. Ukraine is serious, which may account for Germany's decision to act.

Bolshevik troops hold Kiev, the capital, where 4,000 persons were killed and 7,000 injured in several days' fighting and bolshevik adherents are destroying railroads and food supplies. In Odessa, also, there has been fight-

On the western front there have been no extensive movements. In Cham-pagne the Germans persist in their attempts against the French p near the Butte Du Mesnil. Tuesday the French, who are aided by American artillery, repulsed enemy efforts, the Germans being unable to leach the French lines.

Aerial activity is the predominating factor on the British and American fronts. In the north British airmen have accounted for sixteen German airships and have dropped hundreds of bombs on railways and airdromes. French and British bombing squadrons also have attacked important points in Lorraine.

On the American sector the enemy machines have been busy over and behind the American lines. The American gunners kept the Germans high in the air and one of the enemy was brought down by an American aviator, Nine Americans have been wounded by German shells.
